

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS NOTES

By Lieut. Charles E. Keegan.

National Guard units throughout the State will observe the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt on Friday. In practically every armory in the State a portrait of the ex-President will be unveiled with his famous "Keep Up the Fight for Americanism" message inscribed below the pictures. Appropriate ceremonies will mark the unveiling. Adjutant General J. Leslie Kincaid will conduct the ceremonies in the armory at Hudson.

Only five enlisted men of the National Guard of this State will be eligible for the appointment to West Point this year under the new quota. The examinations will be held March 6 next. It is expected that New York will again fill its quota, as it did last year for the first time. Applicants must have been in the National Guard at least one year and must be between the ages of 19 and 22 and be at least 5 feet 4 inches in height.

Big doings are being planned at the armory of the 105th Field Artillery in the Bronx for Armistice Night. An elaborate review will be tendered Col. Robert W. Marshall of that command. Col. Marshall was a private in the outfit which he now commands, and made an enviable record in the war. A horse show, the first ever held in the Bronx, will constitute part of the programme, which is being arranged by the members of Battery E, of which Capt. Clarence H. Higginson is commanding officer.

Brig. Gen. Willoughby Walker, Acting Commandant of Fort Totten, will be the guest of the 212th Artillery at a review at its armory on next Monday night. Col. Nelson B. Burr, commanding the 212th, and his staff plan to show Gen. Walker how much improved the men are from their stay at Fort Totten during the summer encampment.

Private Walter Knudson of the medical detachment of the 14th enjoys the distinction of being the first enlisted man in the National Guard to get paid for a stay in a hospital. Knudson is a patient at the Harbor Hospital in Brooklyn, where the 14th has a bed. He fractured his left leg at a drill. Major William Schroeder Jr., who operated upon him, says he'll be out in a few weeks and Knudson is cheerful. Most of his cheer came when the good news of his payroll status was brought him.

Capt. Frank Tournabene and Lieut. David Dove supervised the "mock review" which was staged the other night at the armory of the 14th. Private Harry Lubin of Company I, as chief reviewing officer, with the title of Brigadier General of the South African Totten Guards, drove into the armory in an ash cart to conduct the ceremonies. Over 3,000 people enjoyed the review, which was followed by dancing and a collation.

Brig. Gen. James G. Robb will be tendered a review by the 71st Regiment at its armory on Nov. 28. Plans have been completed for the big recruit drive of the 71st. It will start on Nov. 16 with a parade through Park Avenue from 84th to 59th Street and then back over the same ground through Fifth Avenue. A canvass will be made of all the athletic and social clubs from Fifth Avenue to the East River by teams of enlisted men.

Business pressure has impelled Lieuts. Joseph Mulliner, James C. Anderson and Thomas S. McIntee of the 9th Coast Defense command to tender their resignations, which have been forwarded through the proper channel by Col. John J. Byrne. Major Leonard A. Keyes, in command of the Fire Control, will put the regiment through a drill on Oct. 25, which will be followed by dancing, and on Oct. 30 there will be another regimental drill followed by a big Halloween party.

The big boxing tournament between the National Guard and the United States Navy will take place at the 9th armory next Saturday night. There will be four eight-round bouts on the programme. Sunny Corbin, Pete Hayes, R. O'Neil and Marty Powers will represent the Guard.

The 27th Division special troops will start off the social season with a Halloween dance. One of the features of this party will be an exhibition of the new mobile machine shops of the 102d Ordnance Company.

The Tank Company of the special troops is having a hard time keeping away applicants. They drill in a big vacant lot at Fort Washington Avenue and 168th Street and have quite a large and interested audience at each drill.

Seventh Regiment night will be observed at the Hippodrome on Nov. 5, when the entire regiment will attend the big show house for the special Sousa concert. Lieut. Francis Sutherland, bandmaster of the 7th, will present a new march that night entitled "The Gallant 7th." It was written by Sutherland and dedicated to the regiment. Col. Wade Hayes will be presented with the original manuscript of the piece.

The football team of the 101st Cavalry got off to a bad start, but they are not pessimistic. The Holy-

Harmony

Smart trim lines are always a noticeable feature of Dr. Reed's Cushion Shoes. But we don't stop there in helping New York women to be the best dressed in the world. We put those lines into boots and low shoes, in a variety of leathers, on lasts of all descriptions. Long vamp, short vamp; high heels, low heels; dress pumps, walking boots; there's a Dr. Reed Cushion Shoe to harmonize with the dress and the occasion—and always comfortably.

oke A. C. beat them 7 to 0, and they will tackle the team of the U. S. N. Maryland next Saturday at St. Agnes Hall, 56th Street and Ninth Avenue.

The actors among the horsemen have begun rehearsals for the big cavalry show, "Gee Whik," which will be staged in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn some time in December.

The equitation school under Lieut. Albert J. Marucchi got off to a flying start Monday night. He was assisted by Sergeants Fraser, Platt and Beatty.

The service company of the 7th will tender a dinner to Col. Hayes and his staff at the armory on Nov. 17.
